. . . college life

. . . methodist
college

. . . 1971-72

. . . are the best years of your life . . . more to life than just a trip . . .
a collection or group are what they react to . . .
get it all together . . .
git up! git up??!! . . .
there will be no
temptation . . . young adults!?! . . . we don't mess around (much)
. . . ref. where did you go to school? . . . no heat! . . . well, we'll get right on it . . . turn that music down or we'll close the place down
. . . i can vote for what?
. . . no more
classification . . . no more education? . . .
college life? . . .

education begins from the first moments of awareness in one's life. under valid stimuli it continues until observation ceases. it involves the total person and takes its course in all settings.

the purpose of any academic institution should be to provide the opportunity, setting, atmosphere and stimuli for the educational process.

the failure of our system is in the ambiguity and contradiction of the methods, particulars
and communications of the total academic structure.

each individual is required to wade through the mire of confusion and uncertainty.

his task is to fashion his own philosophy for the system.

the process leads some to confusion . . . others to unfounded certainty.

to be constantly aware of both direction and goals is an all important matter. perhaps through constant analysis, evaluation, criticism and reconstruction we shall finally surmount these imperfections. the success or failure of the strife lies in the persistent inquiry and concerted efforts of each person involved.

may court 1971

1970-71 may court: kaye corbin, angie vurnakes, kitty cook, joy warren owens, peggy jo bland.

1970-71 may queen was kitty cook, an elementary education major from elizabethtown, n.c. kitty reigned over the semi-formal dance. a campus group, the collectors item, provided the entertainment.

field day

field day provided excitement for all, from students to faculty. the guys and gals were evenly matched with egg races, bobbing for apples, and a clothes changing race.

hats off to freshman carol sheppard, 1970-71 beanie queen; priscilla memullen; dusty woodbury; kathy galicia; suzanne grubb; stephanie standock; elaine pulliam; lisa holub; sylvia landis.

hats off to freshmen dance is given in behalf of the freshmen. annually given, it symbolizes the last time the freshmen ever have to wear their beanies. the cassanovas from fayetteville supplied the entertainment. sylvia landis, a freshman from garber, was crowned the 1971-72 beanie queen.

kangaroo court

"you're gonna pay" became a reality as the new class of freshmen felt the wrath of the dreaded kangaroo court. the court was conducted by the sga officials as they prosecuted the guilty and deserving freshmen. they were backed by the upperclassmen who felt it their duty to bring punishment for the many infractions committed by the ruleless group of newcomers. the court ended with the offenders forgiven of all their past errors and with humble admiration for the upperclassmen.

homecoming

o.d. grass

homecoming week-end got off to a good start with a dance friday night featuring o.d. grass. attendance wasn't great, but that's typical.

rain didn't dampen the spirits of any during homecoming. a full week of activities kept everyone busy, miss boiler plant, junior class talent show, a dance featuring o.d. grass, the soccer game, dorm decorations, homecoming queen. two concerts with the bells, jimmy webb, micropolis and mother's finest and last, but not least, the parties!!!!!!!

miss peggy jo bland from garber hall became the 1971-72 homecoming queen saturday night of homecoming. peggy jo is a junior majoring in music, she is from pittsboro. n.c. the guy's from cumberland finally outdid the girls by winning the trophy for dorm decorations.

miss boiler plant

circle k club presented their annual all male beauty and talent pageant during homecoming week. the talent ranged from singing to magic tricks?? jackie ball, known by most as hank austin, was crowned miss boiler plant by last year's reigning queen, miss isabelle cox. bill presnell.

christmas

december was highlighted by the annual christmas dance sponsored by the class of '74. everyone enjoyed the entertainment provided by the "men of distinction" which ranged from oldie goldies up through the years to christmas carols with a new beat. a capacity audience viewed a very inspiring chapel program which closed with a candle lighting ceremony as the first semester came to a close.

faith and life week

howard hanger trio

february 14-18, as was tradition, was designated as faith and life week. koinonia was responsible for the coordination of activities. the theme of the activities was "wake up and live." for those who participated each experience was the dawning of a new beat, a new sound, a new awareness of life, reality, and love. the expected series of lectures, jam sessions or formal services were replaced by religious rock concerts, sensitivity groups, awareness games and interpretive movies. the week was spearheaded and pulsated through the leadership of howard hanger and the howard hanger trio. the good news singers, a group of 250 high school students, performed on wednesday night with still another type of music. the week concluded with howard hanger's multi-media experience taken from the rock opera, jesus christ superstar, entitled "the end of the beginning."

fine arts

methodist college chorus

the netherlands chamber orchestra, duo-harpists, art exhibits, methodist college's chorus, photography exhibits, and opera are only a few of the many cultural attractions that made up fine arts at methodist college this year. 1971-72 as year's past provided entertainment that was welcomed by the students and the college community.

founders' day

november 1, 1971 was observed as founder's day. the michael terrence o'hanon amphitheater was dedicated. the board of trustees visited the campus, met with faculty and student groups and joined in the celebration of the founding of the school.

dr. l.s. weaver, president of methodist college; mr. and mrs. i.h. o'hanon, financiers of the amphitheater, and dr. mott blair, chairman of the board of trustees view the new amphitheater.

contented smile

i dropped two ants into a jar, one black the other red,
i expected to see them in bloody duel, but they ignored each other instead.

so i placed the ants on a tiny isle, with plenty of deep water around,
hoping they's try an swim to shore,
so i could watch them drown.

but the stubborn pair seemed unconcerned, for either a battle or an escape,
so i decided to leave them overnight, to see what course they would take.

next day i saw a spider had built a web,
from the mainland to the isle,
the ants were nowhere in sight, and the spider wore a contented smile.

found

tomorrow is in the past,
it's sorrows and mishaps.
i've closed and locked the door on past failures and heartaches and now i've left yesterday behind.
to seek another home
and furnish it with faith and laughter and not a bit of gloom.

no not a thought shall enter me that has a hint of hate and every malice and prejudice shall never there in reside.
i've closed out yesterday and locked the door behind — tomorrow holds hope and life since i've found today.

my love for thee

sweet is the voice which speaks, above the cannon's report,
so sweet yet but a glimmer, of thy true success.

beyond the rivers wide,
across the oceans deep;
thy light doth shine,
for me to make safe pass.

for thy pure path is shown,
that we walk safely alas,
into thee meaningful shadow cast, a gracious flame to lead me home.

yes home is where the path does end, where troubles cease and sorrows grim,
the place for us to be,
sleep soundly in our wonderous home, is ours as always to be.

johnathan burke

johnathan burke was a stingy soul, had a heart the size of a pinhead,
a dirty-rotten dingy soul,
no doubt the devil's kindred.

within his every molecule, stirred an ever active greed,
any beggar was surely a fool,
to try arouse burke to good deed.

from an entire loaf of bread, he'd share a morsel not,
nor the roof over his head, when lost souls vainly knocked.

cruelty and coldness, were his only creeds, he sneered at children starving; in the street,
not concerned with those in need,
as long as he had plenty to eat.

one day he died — quite satisfied, over-nourished and under-worked,
no one mourned him — no one cried, gone was another

johnathan burke.

if god be for us, who can be against us?

as i look about me, i see great fields of god's green earth and am happy then, against the brilliant sunset i spot two great smokestacks shooting bellowing black smoke out to pollute our world.

i see a green forest growing as if to touch god's great heavens, and then a careless camper has snuffed it out as if it never were
. . . and all i see is ashes.

if god be for us, who can be against us?

i see a viet nam war where countless young men have died in an unfamiliar country fighting an unfamiliar cause. what kind of love is it that makes us send our young men off to wars that our old men legislate?

i see a proud growing town, and yet, hidden deep inside this town i find a ghetto child fighting away the rats with a scrawny hand, while the townspeople grow disgustingly fat.

if god be for us, who can be against us?

i see the people i know and have faith in get high and stoned, and wonder if they are to be the leaders of my generation.

i see a peaceful night awakened by a scream
. . . and people go back to sleep not bothering to find out why or even to care.

if god be for us, who can be against us?

i see students cheating in a history class and wonder why our system allows that they get the good grades while others barely get by with their honest work. will their cheating ever catch up with them or will they just become better at cheating as time goes by?

i see so many things that make me wonder if this world will be fit to live in a few years from now.

and as i see all these things i realize that though god be for us, it jst might be that we are against ourselves.

valentines

valentines was a success due to the efforts of the freshman class. decorations were willingly taken home to be done during the Christmas vacation and everything was planned out well in advance. a valentine's buffet was held preceding the dance at which the early mourning fogg played. the dance, although starting an hour late after the fogg "blew a fuse," was attended by a representative number of students.

student government association don leatherman, president virginia aydlett, treasurer chip dicks, vice-president student affairs on campus are governed largely by the student government association which is sponsored by the student life committee. this organization functions as an executive body to guide and promote student life on campus. student-elected leaders administer student affairs, entertainment, and discipline, working within the framework of general college policy. there are student representatives serving on each of the general committees of the college.

state student legislature jim ledford — chairman m.c. delegation tommy smith — president of the n.c. state student legislature the north carolina student legislature first convened in 1937, establishing itself as one of the earliest student law-making bodies of its type in the country. ncsl brings together concerned students from all over the state in an annual assembly to discuss the relevant issues and to voice student opinions. these opinions are forwarded by the officers to the north carolina general assembly. throughout the years the student legislature has served to be a testing-ground for much legislation later adopted by the general assembly. in recent years, ncsl has sought to solidify and widen its base to include representatives from every institution of higher learning in north carolina. this year, the methodist college delegation is introducing a bill which would repeal the present lien laws involved in aid to the aged and the disabled.

n.c. delegation: mike casey; david russell; jeff olson; june philbeck, secretary; jim ledford, chairman; ronnie williams; gene dillman; lucia safran; winnie mcbride.

external affairs committee

mr. william lowdermilk, larry lugar, howard

salley, beth ray.

the external affairs council consists of a group of dedicated students working to increase the enrollment at methodist college. they have worked with the alumni association in their program with the local high schools. the council is now making plans to visit all the local churches in the fayetteville area and all the united methodist churches in the north carolina conference upon request.

president's council

the president's council is made up of presidents and representatives of all clubs on campus, as well as, representatives from executive factions of the s.g.a. the purpose of this council is to allow everyone a chance to be heard and to insure all members of the s.g.a. have some representation. seeing as how everyone is an active member of the s.g.a., it is only right and proper that designated representatives are aware of actions taken by the s.g.a. executive council. in some respects, the president's council is a checking power for the executive council.

alumni association sponsored u.s. congressman nick galifianakis as speaker for an assembly program on january 26.

student education association the s.e.a. is one of the largest clubs on campus and is composed of students that are interested in the field of education. the club strives for a better understanding of the teaching field to new teachers. guest speakers, films, and informal sessions make up the meetings of the s.e.a., as well as, having a banquet with the adult group which is composed of professors on the campus. it is a club that benefits all new prospective teachers.

pat walker, vice president; charlotte bridge, secretary; mrs. pauline longest, advisor; greg strobels, president.

green and gold masque keys

by the third week of school the green and gold masque keys' production of pygmalion was well under way. the four weeks of rehearsals brought about the utterance of many intelligent expressions . . . "tell me all about it . . . i gotta go to the bathroom . . . oh yes indeedy . . . i don't wanta hear about it . . . hey, there's people out there . . . i suppose you wonder why i've brought you all together . . . aaaaaaaaah-ow-ow-ow-oo-oo-oo!!" but by opening night it was clear that, in spite of the joking and clowning around, the show would be a tremendous success. the acting, combined with the excellent work of the technical crews, earned pygmalion a standing ovation closing night. in addition to producing a play each semester, the members also have get-togethers to help choose new plays, parties for fun and relaxation, and workshops to further their knowledge of the theater.

the methodist college chorus is continuously growing in popularity throughout the eastern united states as the result of its annual tours. with the assistance of mr. alan porter and the cooperation of the group, the methodist college chorus has enjoyed an outstanding and rewarding year. this year was highlighted by a tour spreading into the new england states, a special spring concert of sacred and secular music, weekend concerts, and music for assemblies and local organizations.

wind ensemble

perhaps the highlight of the first semester's assembly programs was the jazz-rock ensemble's performance. besides the jazz-rock or stage band other divisions of the methodist college wind ensemble are the wind ensemble, saxophone ensemble and percussion ensemble. these musicians are under the direction of mr. john rider. mary jane gosier serves as president of the club.

lynn gruber, treasurer; coleen shaw, vice president; larry lugar, president; mary jane gosier, secretary; dr. garland knott, advisor.

koinonia (greek. meaning fellowship) is the ecumenical religious group on campus. it's purpose is to sponser and promote the religious activities on campus. early in the year a paper drive was started to raise funds needed to successfully carry out this year's plans. projects included a coffee house in the union, vespers, the annual christmas project of selling crafts and gifts that were made by the sheltered workshop for their benefit, and the sponsoring of the third annual faith and life week. this year's speaker was howard hanger.

art club

dave nichols; lou clemmons; paul marshall; reggie card; larry barnes, president; tom beshe; mr. donald green, advisor; kit cholwibul; suzanne yates; regina brown, vice president; susan knays-i; mrs. eleanor howell, advisor.

the art club is as interesting as the people in it. with the assistance of the club advisor, mr. donald green, the art club plans some unusual projects. a new sculpture for the entrance to the fine arts building is being done by the club. also visiting speakers add enthusiasm to this rather new aspect of the fine arts department.

music club

mrs. jean ishee, chris brown, barbara jones, meredith stone, sharon st. clair, susan russell, dory kestner, bob williams, pat o'briant, martha timmins, peggy bland, don snelgrove, carolyn daniel, debbie daniel, brian cash, larry lugar, rick farlee.

now in its sixth year of existence at methodist college, the music club upholds its original purpose of providing an opportunity for those who wish to participate in a musical organization concerned with quality music. the student chapter of the musical educators' national and state conference is for anyone interested in music — either as a vocation or just for enjoyment. the members receive a magazine each month, the national music educators' journal, which keeps them abreast of the musical scene nationwide. the club provides ushers for musical events on campus, upholds the tradition of presenting a bouquet of flowers to girls giving their senior recital, and sponsors various money making projects throughout the year.

meredith stone, vice president; barbara jones, president; sharon st. clair, secretary-treasurer.

monarch club

only students who have lettered in a sport during their athletic career at methodist college are eligible for membership in the monarch club. this year they sponsored a car wash and sold refreshments at basketball games. this club attempts to achieve an atmosphere of sportsmanship and school spirit among both the athlete and student body.

eddie castle, president; vaughn john, secretary-treasurer; whit kidwell, vice president.

esperanza spanish club

ben esquibel, vice president; d.j. delaney, treasurer; penny george, secretary; linda bethea, president.

"to promote a better understanding of the hispanic world" is the underlying idea of the spanish club. the club isn't limited to itself, it reaches to any group that has an interest in the hispanic world. the history and political science club met with the spanish club in a joint meeting, where dr. cowley spoke on cuba. there was also a dinner meeting, of typical spanish food, where everyone had the opportunity to hear and sing to real spanish music. as a money making projects, a bazaar and bake sale were held in december. the club just hopes that it can be of service not only to its members, but also to the rest of the student body in the promotion of good will. understanding is the key to world peace and happiness, and this is what the club is striving for. if only other groups would adopt this theme, then the world would be a better place. will you do your part?

karate club

the methodist college karate club was organized three years ago in an effort to spread the martial art by offering the students of this campus an opportunity to learn not only the physical values but also the mental values of the skills of karate. the goals of the club are simply to remain alive on the campus and to continue offering a self-defense course for all those interested. the activities of the club include demonstrations during assemblies and basketball games and instructing self-defense classes for girls.

young democrats

the young republicans club and the young democrats club each met once during the first semester. this meeting was to organize the clubs and elect the officers for the second semester. the goals of these clubs are to inform the students on politics and the way in which the government operates. with the approach of a national election in 1972, anticipation is that these two clubs may be able to play a vital role in the political participation of the students.

economics and business club a group of well-dressed future businessmen wouldn't be the best adjectives to describe the 1971-72 business club: this year's business club may best be described as not too business-oriented. this club, very active on campus, is unsurpassed by any other club in number. one of the first activities sponsored by the club was a pool party. it was a success. the club violated a traditional homecoming policy by the nomination of a male to the homecoming court. but due to technical problems (?) their nominee couldn't run. the 1971-72 business club may best be remembered for their contributions and active work in our college community.

history and political science club datus conrath, vice president; sarah brady, secretary-treasurer; davis smith, president.

the history and political science club seeks, through on-campus speakers, trips off campus, and rallies with similar clubs of other campuses, to broaden the knowledge of its members in the areas of history and political science. this year, in conjunction with the methodist college senate, it offered a symposium on parliamentary procedure. the speakers were dr. yolanda m. cowley, and dr. l. sergio, a n.n. delegate. the overall aim of the club is to aid in preparing its members for careers in teaching, law, government service, and other related areas.

the methodist college literary club is composed of students and faculty alike who are interested in the literary world. the club's main project this year consisted of the production of a literary magazine (newly named mid-zone) and the raising of money needed to put it out. first semester, a literary contest was held to promote interest and attain material for the magazine. second semester saw another successful book sale to raise money for next year's magazine.

science club

the methodist college science club allows students who have a special interest in the field of science an opportunity to pursue their interest through special projects. in addition to the annual picnic, the science club periodically invites guest speakers in all fields of science to present topics of scientific interest. the science club also takes an active part in the collegiate academy of north carolina academy of science.

the purpose of ethos is to encourage awareness of and involvement in areas of social concern. the club's activities include talent tours to hillsborough street school for the mentally retarded, womack army hospital, and several rest homes in the area. the club also sponsors a fund raising dance for the local day care center.

the chief goal of the circle k is to provide an opportunity for leadership training in service. the club's purposes also include promoting good fellowship; giving primacy to the humane and ethical rather than the material values of life; and developing, by precept and example, a more intelligent, aggressive and serviceable citizenship. some of the circle k's activities are service projects such as collecting for the united fund, helping the underprivileged, and beautifying the campus. the circle k, in an effort to develop the cultural influence on the campus, presented again this year the miss boiler plant pagent.

the 1971-72 small talk, though handicapped by a small staff, turned out editions that equalled those of the past years. second semester saw a new change in the format as the size of the paper increased from 4-6 pages to 8-10 pages. sections that were of special interest to students were the faculty profile, schedules for upcoming events, sports, and special articles on campus activities. the paper proved informative and interesting as the year progressed.

once again, cumberland dorm came through with much school and individual enthusiasm and spirit. they proved this point by winning the 1971 homecoming decorations contest. they led many attacks on the weaver women during the long, grueling homecoming week. for being the oldest dormitory (by about 5 minutes), they would never let you know it. everything cumberland does is a new experience. just ask anyone who lives there.

garber hall

garber hall reigns over the dormitory area of methodist college from a small knoll. the residents of garber were active during the year with cookouts, christmas parties and homecoming festivities. a bridal show in the dormitory was advantageously used to demonstrate the selection and care of china, crystal, silver and cookware to the many prospective brides of garber. mrs. mildred stanton serves as house mother. her concern for her wards and intense love for fun (bridge, car racing, midnight raids, etc.) make her well qualified and highly respected.

the pulsating beat of the drums of progress sounded throughout the halls of sanford in '71-72. the sounds of love came from the new furniture in the lobby and the hangovers that began icily in the closet on second floor right continued the rhythm. change of command went from mrs. lois hall to mrs. marie simpson. and the beat continued from first floor to third floor as the banners of intramural sports were held aloft. and the beat goes on . . .

weaver hall

the campus spotlight for action, especially by moonlight, must rest on weaver hall. under the leadership of the third floor vice squad and the watchful eye of mrs. huddah jones the residents of weaver kept the campus wide awake. a midnight rally in the street, production of campus movies and parties are memorable weaver sponsored events. they also treated the basketball team to a steak dinner and gave a party for retarded children. yes, every sort of event from skating on second floor to those dorm meetings at 2:30 in the morning occurred in weaver. of course all resident students are familiar with the native call of the weaver woman — git up!!

in august 1971, the eastern coast cheerleading camp was held here at methodist college. "miss cheerleader u.s.a.. barbi blackwell was the chief instructor. this was the first time that a program such as this has been offered on the atlantic coast. most of our own cheerleaders were fortunate enough to participate in this activity. there was a total of 175 girls who participated. north carolina, south carolina, virginia, and one from california. our cheerleaders lended their spirit, their presence and their help. the group of girls ranged from the seventh grade up to the twelveth grade. instruction for beginning and experienced cheerleaders were offered. techniques for jumps, chants, stunts, balances, and pom-pom routines. it was a very worthwhile activity for both the cheerleaders and the girls who participated in the program.

ronald bremer, gary thompson, bill lloyd, griffin hendon, tommy brown, phil bauguess, danny fowler.

this year's golf team, coached by gene clayton, had a disappointing season. the team went into every match fighting, but lacked the consistency to be completely successful. each player played individually and not as a team, but coach clayton hopes to unite the team better in 1972. next year, there will be a lot of new recruits coming in as well as the regular "old-stand-bys" ready and willing to help back the team and make it a great season for golf next year. the team plays at the green valley country club and all are welcome to watch their games or to participate on the team. they will probably begin their practices sometime in the early spring, about march. next year, the team expects to stay out of the rough and keep the team on top.

the 1971 methodist college baseball team had a very fine team. even though the team did not meet its expectations, it could have changed easily because of seven games decided by one run. coach bruce shelley has recruited many young men to try out for the 1972 team. a lot of the college players are working on the field. it should be in top shape for a top shape season. practice usually starts in february when it is very cold. when it is too cold to practice outside the team practicc in the gym. after it warms up coach shelley has the team raring to go. the coach and some of the group built a batting cage to practice in while the others worked on defense, but don't ever give coach shelley a fungo to hit infield.

the team seems to be very optimistic this year. most of the group have been ready to play since the fall. we had one practice game with southwood this fall and won 5 to 3. we have a group of dedicated young men. so the 1972 baseball season looks really promising.

the 1970 edition of the methodist college tennis team was led by sophomore star, vaughn john, who placed first in d.i.a.c. play, and captured fourth position in the district 2a n.a.i.a. tournament. overall, the year could only be described in one term — frustrating. the season was not only frustrating in the sense of the overall team record, but frustration was felt by the individual team members who knew that they were better than their record indicated. in conference play the team had a 3-4 record. overall play was 4-6. individual team members and their seedings are as follows:

vaughn john . . .	1
john myers . . .	2
bob lee . . .	3
kit chowibul . . .	4
bobby crossno . . .	5
larry nunnery . . .	6
alex hager . . .	7
david sugg . . .	8
jerry jackson . . .	9

“building” always seems an easy way to describe a losing team, but the 1970 edition of the tennis team was just this because this team was dominated by sophomore players. “great expectations” of the team for the next two years would be a safe assumption.

the 1971 monarchs kicked-off this season, hopeful to make this their best year. they came away a little disappointed, but anxious and ready for the next game. the battered, but high-spirited team, played well, gaining valuable skills and experience and looking forward to a better season next year. the monarchs took on some stiff competition and fought stubbornly, only to come out victorious against n.c. wesleyan and to tie with pfeiffer. both of these games proved to be very exciting. in the n.c. wesleyan game, special credit went to mike casey, mike twiddy, and doug kump for their combined efforts to make the first goal for the monarchs and then to kevin kelley for his "solo" scoring to make the second goal.

homecoming 1971 . . . as usual, it rained during the homecoming game and even though the down-pour flooded the field, it could not dampen the spirits of "our boys". all-in-all, it proved to be very interesting, especially to the monarchs and their fans. for example, it was not uncommon to see the ball "float" across the field, or to hear some "choice" words exchanged between the teams as well as between the hot-tempered umpires. credit was given to bruce anderson for a beautiful shot during the third quarter, giving the monarchs their first goal. after that goal, a great deal of pressure was applied against the marlins of west virginia, but not enough to keep them from scoring. after the second goal for the marlins, the monarchs applied some desperately needed offensive pressure. between their slipping and sliding, they kept the marlins from scoring again. toward the 3rd and 4th quarters, the game almost became a contest to see which player could stay on his feet the longest . . . first prize being the "water-logged" soccer ball. despite the fight which the monarchs produced, the marlins won, the final score . . . 2-1.

cross country

1971 was a year of complete reconstruction — a new beginning — for the cross country team. the team consisted of seven out of state freshmen, all of whom coach shelley personally reeruted. the boys really deserve much priase for the fine way they worked as a team. the success of this year's cross country lies in two words — team effort.

the dedication of the cross country team often goes without reognition. it takes a tough, dedicated guy to keep up with their schedule. if the sun is shining, start running at 6:30 a.m.; if it is raining, start running at 6:30 a.m. — and lots of mornings at 6:30 a.m. the sun is far from shining! these guys run from six to eighteen miles each day in their morning and evening runs totaled.

m.c.'s cross country course covers five miles, over almost every kind of terrain — sand, asphalt, clay, grass, you name it. cross country is one sport in which the home field does make a difference. familiarity with the course really helps!

when st. andrews and virginia wesleyan came to methodist for a meet, six of the first seven men to cross the finish line were wearing green and gold!

basketball

by the last week of september, coach clayton had the monarchs hard at work. they practiced two and a half hours each day, six days each week. practice and playing experience were both greatly needed by the squad, since the team started out with only four returning players, joined by three junior college transfers, and three freshmen. the team gained the experience of playing together in their tough scrimmage schedule, which began early in the school year. the monarchs played nine scrimmages. although this scrimmage schedule meant extra work and longer practices. now the men realize the value of the experience they gained. these games have given the monarchs a great advantage, because of the unity of play and team enthusiasm they gained from them. unity and enthusiasm have been the keys of the team — leading the men to be the best team in the history of m.c., according to the record of games won.

the monarchs often face difficulties against the height of scholarship teams. this year, though, the mighty monarchs met the tallest of teams with their lion's strength, skill, and determination. monarchs '72 — they don't mess around!!!

the monarchs had a great season! and the d.i.a.c. tournament was no different! the second night of the tournament the monarchs faced greensboro and overcame them 71 to 70. saturday night was the night! championship game! the mighty monarchs of methodist college and the lynchburg hornets! the first five minutes of play — and m.c. had 20 points! what playing! then in the second half lynchburg inched up — four seconds to go and the score tied at 58! overtime was certain! then — call it fate, bad luck, whatever — a foul — and the monarchs are number two in the d.i.a.c. tournament.

when it came time for awards and trophies the monarchs got their due glory! "methodist college" was repeated again . . . and again . . . and again! m.e. received a trophy for the d.i.a.e. championship! another one for second place in the tournament! elton stanley was named for membership on the all-tournament team! elton and mark wilson also were named all-conference! craig knight, don dantzler, john conwell, and harry flipping received honorable mention! these awards were followed by the announcement a few days later that the monarch's coach, gene clayton, was named coach of the year by his fellow-coaches in the district!

. . . well, deadlines have to me be met — but the action goes on! so we left room below for you to finish the story of the '72 monarchs!

intramurals

softball

in the hot, sultry days last spring, the men's intramural teams were busy with softball. hit after hit . . . run after run . . . game after game . . . until the battle for the championship was between second floor cumberland and third floor sanford. it was a good game for both teams, but cumberland's second floor came out the victors!

football

the 1971 intramural football champions are third floor sanford. sanford's third floor men have maintained this title for the past three years. they have been scored against only once in their three years of championship playing.

twelve teams, a lot of interest, and a lot of fun makes up intramural basketball. each year this sport highlights the intramural season. this year followed tradition.

volleyball

volleyball showed more interest and participation this year than in year's past. As the regular season games came to a close, four teams advanced to the tournament. the tournament was a double elimination contest that was won by third floor cumberland.

champions: craig knight, whit kidwell, mike twiddy, nolan becker, john myers.

ping pong

the 1972 ping pong championship was captured by donald womble, a senior from fayetteville. this year's contest had approximately twelve participates. the competition was narrowed down to tommy stephens and donald womble with the latter taking the championship in a hard fought battle.

women's athletic association the women's athletic association is the organization that comes the closest to being the methodist college women's lib group, for they are the only group in which the women can take out their frustrations as a united athletic team. every woman attending m.c. is eligible to be an active member of the w.a.a., both day and dormitory students. all that is necessary is to have the desire to have some wholesome athletic fun. representatives for the day and dorm students are appointed to get the students interested in participating in w.a.a. w.a.a. sports include volleyball in the fall, followed by bowling, basketball in the winter and softball in the spring. the teams are usually divided into dorm vs. day students. it is basically an intramural sports program, but occasionally they play other schools.

viewing a w.a.a. softball game is an interesting way to spend a few hours. participation has been good and the rivalry is strong. each floor in the dormitory has a team, and the day students have their own team. last year the day students won the softball trophy. according to one of the participating girls, a good sportsmanship award is not given. the best sportsmanship is shown by the umpires and referees. it is often hard to find anyone brave enough to tackle these jobs, because the girls do become quite involved in the game and tend to blame the referees and umpires for all their mistakes.

this year brought quite a change to girls basketball. they adopted the new girls rule of five players on a team. to keep the girls in line, jerome wade and don danzler volunteered their services as referees. as usual, this year was a riot!

linda bethea has the distinction of earning two majors, history and spanish, and two minors, philosophy and political science. a dean's list student and a methodist college merit scholarship recipient, linda is from rocky mt. she has been active in the music dept., where she has been in the m.c. chorus four years, the music club, and the wind and jazz ensembles. she is also in several clubs, including the spanish club, of which she is president, and the history and political science club. this is linda's second year serving as business manager of the carillon. linda's plans for after graduation include attending graduate school and eventually earning her ph.d in history.

one of the two religion majors selected to who's who, ray gooch, plans to enter the field of pastoral ministry after attending duke divinity school. ray, who is from creedmoor, was co-editor of the '71 carillon and is associate editor this year. while at m.c., ray has been a recipient of the methodist college merit scholarship. this year he is serving as secretary of sanford dorm. ray is also seen quite frequently in davis memorial library, where he has worked as a student assistant for three years.

bentley hill holds the dixie conference tennis champion title for singles and doubles for 1970, as well as the naia district tennis champion title. he also represented m.c. in the national naia tournament, where he was a quarter finalist. a dean's list student and business major, bentley is from fayetteville. after graduation, he plans to learn to fly the cobra gunship helicopter and use this experience in vietnam.

larry lugar, a mathematics major from wilson, has been primarily active in the music and religious life on campus. he has been in the m.c. chorus four years, serving as its president his sophomore year, and in the koinonia club since its establishment, serving two years as its president. his outstanding academic record includes being a dean's list student and serving as class marshall his freshman and sophomore years and alternate marshall his junior year. larry's active campus life has also included participating in the senate and other campus organizations. future aspirations of larry include teaching high school mathematics or attending graduate school for computer science.

sarah brady is this year's editor of small talk, of which she has also served as features and associate editors. this position also enabled her to be appointed to the faculty publications committee. sarah has been active in several campus clubs, including the newman club, of which she was secretary-treasurer, the history and political science club, the women's athletic association, and the student education association. a history major from fayetteville and a dean's list student, sarah plans to teach after graduation.

patsy hall is familiar to students who have gone into the registrar's office, where she has worked three years. patsy's outstanding academic record includes being a dean's list student and class marshall her freshman and junior years and alternate marshall her sophomore year. she was also alternate chief marshall her junior year. patsy's academic record have also earned her three scholarships while she has been at m.c. these include the methodist college merit scholarship, the professional and business women's club scholarship, and the pilot club of fayetteville scholarship. patsy, who is from fayetteville and majoring in english, plans to teach after graduation. her future plans also include attending graduate school and working towards her ph. d. in english.

jim ledford, this years president of the senate, is also serving as chairman of the north carolina ssl delegation, a sociology major and dean's list student from fayetteville. jim is recipient of the brantley scholarship. active in drama, jim has starred in production of the green & gold masque keys and the fayetteville state university's drama club. also a member of the president's council his senior year, jim was junior class marshall. jim's goal being to help people, he plans to attend graduate school or work for the public health service.

jane baldwin is the only junior to be selected to who's who this year. she is a french major from fayetteville, where she is organist and choir director at lyon memorial united methodist church. jane is also a member of the m.c. chorus. she is a transfer student from michigan state university, which she attended in 1947.

one of our reigning campus belles is virginia aydlett, who is an elementary education major from elizabeth city, virginia, who is a methodist college merit scholarship recipient, is a dean's list student. while at m.c. she has been quite active in the student government association, being a class senator her freshman and sophomore years and sga treasurer for two years. this year virginia is head of our cheerleading squad, of which she has been a member for three years. after graduation virginia plans to teach third grade and possibly attend graduate school.

ben esquibel entered m.e. while serving in the armed forees, where he has accumulated enough credits to qualify as a college junior. a sociology major from fayetteville and a dean's list student, ben spent this past summer doing researeh work in new mexico as a senior seminar project. he is active in the student government, where he is a senior class senator, and several campus elubs, including the spanish, ethos, history and monogram clubs. ben is also a member of the academie affairs committee and curriculum reform committee. upon graduation ben hopes to enter the peace corps and work in brazil. his future plans also include attending graduate school.

paul reinhard is a sociology major from fayetteville and has been on the dean's list every semester. he was managing editor of small talk his junior year; and, in his senior year he co-starred in the drama elub's production of pygmalion. paul is also active in student-faculty-administration affairs. paul has accepted the position of media relations supervisor with the wachovia corporation in winston-salem.

joann merritt is a religion major from wilmington. a recipient of the belk's hensdale scholarship. she is also a dean's list student, and served as alternate junior marshall. joann now sits on the judicial board of garber hall, serves as a senior class senator, and is on the library and student academie affairs committees. her plans for after graduation are to go to graduate school.

tommy smith is a dean's list student and recipient of the national methodist scholarship his freshman and sophomore years and the terry sanford merit scholarships his junior and senior years. he is active in student government, where he has been freshman class senator, president pro-tem and president of the senate, and attorney general. tommy was also a delegate to the ncssl, where he was chosen vice-president his junior year. he is serving as president of the ncssl this year. tommy has been on the varsity soccer team all four years while attending m.e. a business major from sandston, virginia, tommy plans to enter the business world upon graduation.

on awards day of may, 1971, a group of twenty-eight methodist college students were honored for their display of academic averages and unusual performance in particular fields of study.

kenneth jay reeves, linda hall warren, patricia bracewell clayton, harriet rollins flowers, mary helen pearsall and carol mcknight wells were named methodist college scholars. students are elected to this scholarship group by the faculty. minimum academic standards to be eligible for election are a 3.75 grade point average for candidates completing the junior year; 3.60 for first semester seniors, and 3.50 for graduating seniors.

elva jess and john brown were presented the "outstanding senior" awards by the student government association senate as the students who had contributed the most to all phases of life at methodist college.

michael safley received the ficken award. the award honors dr. clarence ficken, first academic dean of methodist college and is presented annually to the member of the junior class who is judged to have contributed most to mutual understanding between students, administrators, and the faculty members during his three years on campus.

tom jones received the ott-cooper science award. the award honors the first two area chairmen of the department, dr. chales ott and dr. william c. cooper.

mary helen pearsall received the marie c. fox philosophy award. it was established by the first professor of philosophy at methodist college and is presented annually to the student who has exhibited outstanding analytical ability, philosophical perspective and creative potential in his studies in philosophy.

harry l. davis received the grace tobler award in political science for his outstanding performance and academic potential in the field.

louisa mcleod received the george and lillian miller history award, presented annually to a student whom the faculty determines to have been outstanding in that field and to have the greatest academic potential.

jean guthery received the balaez-ambrose mathematics award. the award was established by a 1969 "summa cum laude" graduate of methodist college, in honor of dr. ofelia m. balaez and mr. robert b. ambrose, professors of mathematics at the college, and it recognizes a student with the greatest creative and academic potential in mathematics.

harriet baker rollins flowers received the edna l. contardi english award. the award honors a former english professor at the college and is presented annually to the graduating senior who has maintained the highest accumulative academic average in english and who is an english major.

at the seventh annual monarch banquet held may 11, 1971 athletes representing eight sports were presented awards.

basketball star bobby hodges received the "best all around senior athlete" award. fred puryear was named "most valuable player" in bowling. local coach jay dejaynes presented the award. mr. dejaynes was named diac bowling coach of the year. monarch bowler took the highest average in the conference with 192 points. it was announced that steve edward and bill medole were named all-conference bowlers.

david patrick was named "most outstanding player" in cross country. cross country coach bruce shelley announced that patrick finished first in the conference.

mason sykes, diac soccer coach of the year, announced that kit cholwibul was selected for the all-conference team in soccer. kit also won the "most outstanding player" award in soccer. john brown won honorable mention to the all-conference team.

paul (buster) sanderford won "most valuable player" in baseball. monarch baseball coach shelley said of the 1970-71 team, "it's the best club we've ever had."

ron bramer won the "most valuable player" award in golf. bramer placed third as the conference medalist and represented methodist college in the district playoffs.

"most valuable player" award in tennis was presented to vaughn john. john was number one player in the diac conference and was named to the all-conference team.

basketball coach clayton presented the "most valuable player" award to bobby hodges. hodges and john conwell were named to the all-conference basketball team.

david patrick won the "most valuable player" award in wrestling. david was district 29 wrestling champion, member of the all-conference team, member of the all-tournament team and member of the all-american team. he finished sixth in the nation in the spring tournament at boone, north carolina.

the sherry sellers cheerleading award was presented to terry self. terry served as chief cheerleader.

appreciation awards were made to the monarch coaches by the team members.

as a year concludes, memories of victory, defeat, jubilation, sorrow, pride, dejection, harmony and strife rush in on the voice of experience to face the challenges of tomorrow. some part for a while — others forever, but all changed or hardened.
